

When reporting datasets based on marine sediments archives (micropaleontological), for legacy datasets, should the habitat depth be considered essential, recommended or desired?

