

When reporting datasets based on lake sediments archives (imagery data), for legacy datasets, should the analytical method be considered essential, recommended or desired?

