

When reporting datasets based on lake sediments archives (mineralogy), for legacy datasets, should the relative abundance (by mineral) be considered essential, recommended or desired?

