

When reporting datasets based on chronologies (U series), for new datasets, should the bulk composition and mineral phases (for silicates) be considered essential, recommended or desired?

