

When reporting datasets based on lake sediments archives (particle size), for new datasets, should the % volume or mass by grain size class/interval be considered essential, recommended or desired?

