

When reporting datasets based on chronologies (software), for legacy datasets, should the publication information about the software be considered essential, recommended or desired?

