

When reporting datasets based on cross archives, for new compilations, should the publication from previous work be considered essential, recommended or desired?

