

When reporting datasets based on speleothem archives (modern cave conditions), for new datasets, should the karst porosity be considered essential, recommended or desired?

