

When reporting datasets based on uncertainties (measured variable), for new datasets, should the reproducibility be considered essential, recommended or desired?

