

When reporting datasets based on trees archives, for legacy datasets, should the bedrock description be considered essential, recommended or desired?

