

When reporting datasets based on chronologies (relative chronologies), for legacy datasets, should the original measurements be considered essential, recommended or desired?

