

When reporting datasets based on marine sediments archives (general), for new datasets, should the gear type for collection of the archive be considered essential, recommended or desired?

