

When reporting datasets based on trees archives (stable isotope), for legacy datasets, should the whether or not a chronology was established be considered essential, recommended or desired?

