

When reporting datasets based on chronologies (U series), for new datasets, should the method of calibration for all activity or atom ratios reported (e.g. secular equilibrium or gravimetric) be considered essential, recommended or desired?

