

When reporting datasets based on trees archives, for legacy datasets, should the missing sapwood rings to bark foundation be considered essential, recommended or desired?

