

When reporting datasets based on cross archives, for legacy datasets, should the method reference be considered essential, recommended or desired?

