

When reporting datasets based on chronologies (U series), for new datasets, should the chemical separations be considered essential, recommended or desired?

