

When reporting datasets based on ice core archives, for legacy datasets, should the core densities be considered essential, recommended or desired?

