

When reporting datasets based on chronologies (relative chronologies), for new datasets, should the method (employed software or manual) be considered essential, recommended or desired?

