

When reporting datasets based on uncertainties (models), for new datasets, should the parameters be considered essential, recommended or desired?

