

When reporting datasets based on trees archives, for legacy datasets, should the ring count be considered essential, recommended or desired?

