When reporting datasets based on lake sediments archives (mineralogy), for legacy datasets, should the interpretation be considered essential, recommended or desired?