When reporting datasets based on historical documents archives, for legacy datasets, should the quote be considered essential, recommended or desired?